PROLOGUE

Now I know what Marco Polo had to go through! In the thirteenth century, explorer Marco Polo traveled the Far East, and when he returned to his native country, many people didn't believe his stories. They thought: "He can't possibly be telling the truth. There can't possibly be other worlds out there besides our own. Doesn't the entire universe revolve around us?"

Fortunately for Marco Polo, he was able to sell books. Why? Because people found his "fictional stories" about the Far East to be interesting. That sounds like me too, doesn't it? Many people assume that my spiritual guides can't possibly be for real. I must be writing these books just for the money. I've been accused of having a "very active imagination." I've also been accused of writing "fictional plays" in which I only pretend to have a dialogue with spiritual guides.

When I think of Marco Polo, I sometimes wonder, "Did he ever get so frustrated with people that he had wished he never became an explorer to begin with?" Did he ever think "If people don't believe that my experiences are for real, then I wish that they wouldn't read my books to begin with?"

The answer to those questions is: "I'm sure that he did feel that way sometimes." How do I know? Because I'm an explorer too! I have visited other worlds just as Marco Polo did in the thirteenth century!

I know what some of you are thinking: "The 'worlds' that Dr. Frick visits are not physical." With all due respect to many of you, the fifth dimension is all around us. It isn't only around me. It is around you too! All of us are explorers in our own way. We are spirits living in the material world (not the other way around).

But, in my particular case, my spiritual guides (for some reason) write books through me. Do I have any regrets? No, when all is said and done, I don't. And I suppose that Marco Polo didn't regret his explorations either, because there is something to be said about the fact that the truth never falls on totally deaf ears. Some of you may not have much appreciation for these writings, but perhaps they help you from the perspective of another level of reality.

As for the rest of you . . . those of you who are actually "foolish" enough to believe that my spiritual guides actually exist . . . remember that God looks after both angels and fools—and maybe you're a little bit of both! Is that so bad?

And one last thing: when Marco Polo was on his death bed, he was asked if all of his "ridiculous stories" about the Far East were actually true. He then indicated that he couldn't possibly explain everything that he saw in words.

That's the way I feel when I write these books:

I can't explain to you how these books are being written. Either I'm a very imaginative, greedy person or I'm actually communicating with spirits from another dimension.

Some of you may be wondering: "Maybe he is a combination of both extremes." In all honesty, I don't believe I am! I'm not perfect, but I'm no businessman. I'm a "fool" who communicates with angels!

P.S. "Abraham Lincoln" helped me write this prologue!

CHAPTER 1

Discussion with spirit guides

Abraham Lincoln and Martin Luther King

ABRAHAM LINCOLN: I think we're about ready to get started. I suppose another introduction is in order: greetings everybody! I am in fact "Abraham Lincoln"—that is, I was "Abraham Lincoln" during one of my incarnations on Earth.

I am still a conscious being in another dimension. You could say I'm pure energy. I'm with you at all times. A few of you could function as receivers for my energy.

I suppose the analogy that I am a source of pure energy—that analogy applies as long as you all understand that I am very much conscious and alive, and I do have hopes, dreams and feelings as I did as

“Abraham Lincoln.”

Obviously, those “hopes, dreams and feelings” have changed somewhat since I passed over into the after-life, but they still do exist. I’m not just some totally detached being sitting on a cloud without any opinions of my own. I have plenty of opinions about the world you live in.

I’d like to think that my opinions are more evolved than any person’s opinion could possibly be. I’m not perfect though. I’m not God. I do learn from Dr. Frick and all of you out there reading these words.

(With amusement) The bad news is I don’t learn as much from you as many of you would like to think. My existence (the sixth or seventh dimension) is so far removed from your existence that I guess you could say I have some idea of what it’s like to be God.

[“Martin Luther King” takes over for “Abraham Lincoln.”]

MARTIN LUTHER KING: As a spiritual guide, I’m really not much different from an archangel. I want you all to know that archangels really do exist, and they do care a great deal about each and every one of you! You could even say that God and His archangels are profoundly aware of every sparrow that falls from a tree. Each sparrow has incredible significance. From the level of reality I am speaking from, these sorts of truths are second nature to us advanced beings.

And if sparrows are incredibly important to us, then people certainly are! Unlike with plants and animals and other such creatures, you human beings have some capability to detach from your existence in such a way that. . . I’m not going to say that you could experience the world through the eyes of God, but even Jesus Christ said that you could do as He did, and even better! (You can and yet you can’t!)

[He laughs.]

I know I better be careful! As soon as I mention “Jesus Christ,” many of you think of “religion.” But this isn’t about religion—it is about your personal relationship with God, and the general well being of “Planet Earth.”

Do you all think that God wants there to be a nuclear war or a World War III? I think not! God is working with all of you. Use your power wisely.

And when I say “God is with all of you,” I mean He is with you in HIS (or HER) entirety! I guess you could say that each of you is loved by God as if you were the only person on the face of the Earth! The only “catch” of course is that you all do have to share the world together, but is that so bad?

There are six billion people in the world—that is, six billion manifestations of God walking the Earth. And surely, you could all figure out a way to live in peace!
